The Green is the uncontested reference book of several surgeons' generations of the hand, the resident to the professor of university. Fifth edition is enriched by the contribution of a new team of international editors, selected carefully according to their domains of excellence.

It is an inexhaustible source of data on techniques in open surgery as under arthroscopy. For every subject, operating techniques the most common are exposed, before the author delivers us tricks and craftiness of his favorite technique.

A very useful CD-ROM sends back to the summaries of main references quoted in the work. One regrets simply not to be able to have an electronic version of the Green, because the weight of two volumes prevents the transport of it.

J.A. Kiernan. Histological and Histochemical Methods: Theory and Practice

5th edition, Scion Publishing, 2015, 571 pp.

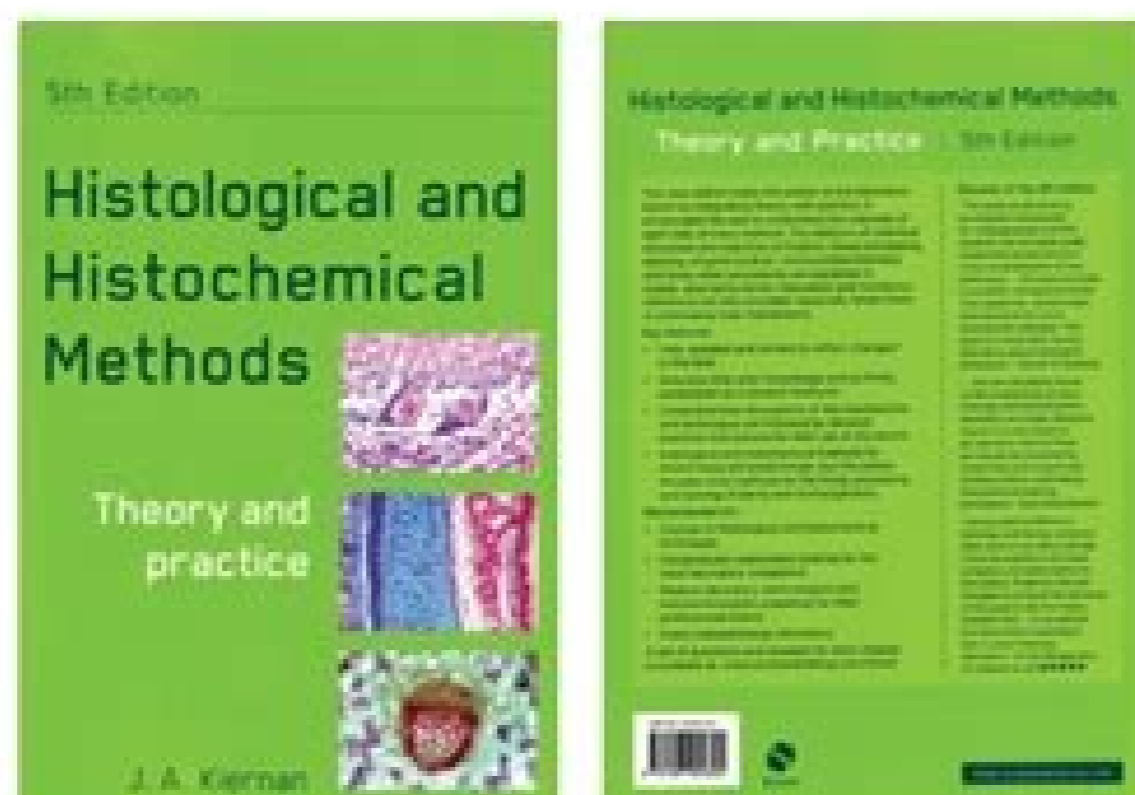

Zbigniew Kmiec

Department of Histology, Medical University of Gdansk, Poland

The fifth edition of this leading work on histological and histochemical techniques affirms its position as a key reference book for all those involved with histological preparations and applications, from the student to the experienced laboratory investigator. As in earlier editions (1981, 1990, 1999, 2008), the new edition aims to teach the chemical, physical, and biological principles of fixation, staining, histochemistry, and immunohistochemistry. For most of the described staining methods, the theoretical explanations and practical instructions are closely integrated. This allows an intelligent approach to the choice of the best visualization technique for the types of cells or tissues under study.

The overall structure of the book remains unchanged, but the content of the 20 chapters has been thoroughly revised and updated to reflect recent technological advances. As with the fourth edition, some newer techniques that may become standard methods in research or diagnostic pathology have been included. New sections deal with artifacts and troubleshooting, methods for microorganisms and fungi in sections, and techniques for detecting calcium oxalate deposits and for staining bone and cartilage in transparent whole-mount preparation — an important procedure in testing for the teratogenic effects of drugs and other substances. As methods of fixing and processing tissues have become more diverse, the first four chapters describe various newer reagents and techniques. The subsequent chapters deal with 'classical' historical staining with dyes and often provide revised explanations of the rationale behind their use. The chapter on nucleic acids now includes an expanded description of hybridization histochemistry and methods for detecting apoptotic cells. The concise but thorough description of immunohistochemical techniques provides a satisfactory introduction to methods widely used in many fields of biological research and diagnostic histopathology. The space for the new material in this edition has been obtained

Book Description From for Cadet Rank Merchant Navy officers to Master Mariner, the fifth edition of this highly respected book is in full color, and has been updated to include more information on topics as diverse as electronic navigation and AIS technology, while including essential information on Subjects such as safety at sea, rescue operations, surveillance tasks and pollution control. It covers international standards and works well in courses around the world. The assembly techniques are written to serve seafarers and nautical students from cadets to master level, studying for professional marine qualifications under the international maritime organization according to STCW requirements. Used by training establishments around the world, this best seller is the only reference to both the practice on board and the boat operations that the sea people will need.
